

UBACE
is ready to rock 'n roll
C12

BUCKS COUNTY HERALD

LIVING

ENTERTAINMENT ART

Dining In C2

SECTION C

November 11, 2010

Bucks County Trout Unlimited Conservation Chairman Joe Mihok and George Webb from Covenant Church plant one of 80 trees that were added to the church property.

Trout Unlimited works with church in reforestation project

Trees will aid groundwater infiltration near Watson Creek

Peter Schwalm plants a tree Saturday at Covenant Church on Rt. 202, Doylestown.

Trout Unlimited worked with volunteers from Covenant Church on Route 202 to plant 80 trees provided by TreeVitalize. The planting is the first phase of an effort that will eventually reforest approximately 2 acres of the church property, which is in the Watson Creek watershed. The reforested area will reduce stormwater runoff and improve groundwater infiltration, helping to maintain stream flow in nearby Watson Creek during periods of dry weather.

Photographs
by Robert S. Cherry

Steve Fortner from Covenant Church prepares a hole for a shrub.

About a dozen members from both organizations helped plant trees.

Mark Fischer and Stan Tymusczuk add a deer guard to a white birch as part of the Trout Unlimited tree planting.

Jon Gindhart and Jim Hewitt stake several trees.